

Family-Friendly Restrooms are Located in the Following Buildings in at Least One Location:

AOK Library: 1st Floor, male and female restrooms

Meyerhoff Chemistry Building: 1st Floor, male and female restrooms

Physics: 1st Floor, male and female restrooms

Performing Arts and Humanities Building

Public Policy: 1st Floor, male and female restrooms

RAC: Main lobby, male and female restrooms

The Commons: Ground Floor in both gender-neutral restrooms

University Center: 3rd Floor, male and female restrooms

What's Family-friendly?

These restrooms having changing tables for you to use for the kiddo! Surprisingly, they can sometimes be hard to find and we want to make sure that both moms and dads (and other special guardians & caretakers) know where they can find they're on campus with the little ones. Feel like we've missed a building?

Let us know. Write us at womens.center@umbc.edu.

For more on parenting at UMBC, join the Moms and Parents myUMBC group:

<http://my.umbc.edu/groups/umbcmoms>

Gender-Neutral Friendly Restrooms:

Performing Arts and Humanities Building: 2nd Floor

Public Policy: Basement level

The Commons: Ground Floor has 2 gender-neutral restrooms

AOK Library, Gallery Restrooms: Labeled as male or female but are single-use and can be locked behind the user.

Residential Life also has gender-neutral housing options. Contact them for more details!

What's Gender-Neutral Friendly?

Gender-neutral restrooms, or single-use restrooms, mean gender-variant and trans people, who often experience harassment and even violence, in gender-segregated or multiple-stall restrooms, can use these spaces in peace. These spaces can also be great for parents with children of a different gender and/or persons with disabilities with an attendant of a different gender to use with less awkwardness. Feel like we've missed a space? Let us know. Write us at womens.center@umbc.edu.

