

SOCY 630: SOCIOLOGY OF AGING

APPLIED SOCIOLOGY GRADUATE COURSE

Fall 2017

Class Number: 7899

Instructor: Dr. Takashi Yamashita

Time: Tuesdays from 4:30 – 7:00 p.m.

Location: PUP 204

Description

The Sociology of Aging provides an overview of processes of aging. Students examine sociological theories and data to explore the aging individual, the social context of aging, and societal responses to an aging population. Specific course topics include the demography of aging, biopsychosocial aspects of aging, health and well-being over the life course, changing family roles and living arrangements, and finance in later life.

For more information about the Master's Program in Applied Sociology, please visit our website:
<http://sociology.umbc.edu/ma-in-applied-sociology/>